

First Call Urgent Care at Baltimore/Washington Thurgood Marshall Airport

On Tuesday August 26, 2021, First Call Medical Center, and urgent care facility, opened its doors at a new location- inside BWI Thurgood Marshall airport. The new, state of the art urgent care facility, will provide services to the public and to airport employees.

The grand opening of the facility was attended by Maryland Governor Larry Hogan, as well as Secretary of Transportation Gregory Slater, State Senator Pam Beidle (D- Dist. 32), State Delegate Sid Saab (R- Dist. 33), and MedChi CEO, Gene Ransom.

Services available at the facility include urgent care and first aid along with COVID testing and vaccinations. Travel vaccinations are also available by appointment. While COVID certainly highlighted the need for such a facility, it was actually in the plans long beforehand. “We’ve been working on getting this facility for five years” said Dr. Ron Elfenbein, who is the Medical Director and owner of First Call. Teresa Healey-Conway, Executive Director of the Anne Arundel County Medical Society said “as someone who once broke a toe while going through airport security, I think having an urgent care facility is fantastic”.

The facility is located near Concourse C, prior to security and will be open 6am – 9pm. Insurance is accepted and there is a self-pay option for anyone who does not have insurance.
