JOHNS HOPKINS PRESENTS 12TH ANNUAL SEMINAR SERIES

BALTIMORE, September 9, 2013 — Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Department of Health, along with Dan Morhaim, M.D., Associate Faculty and Ellen MacKenzie, Ph.D., Chair HPM, announce the 12th Annual Fall Policy Seminar Series entitled “Advocacy and Action: Local, State, Regional, and National Perspectives on Health and Healthcare”.

The Fall Seminar Series is designed to complement academic presentations by bringing leaders and topics that are shaping today's issues in health policy. Each seminar includes Q&A and stimulating discussion with the presenters. The Series is free and open to the public. Reservations are not required, but they ask that you arrive early to assure admission.

Gene M. Ransom, MedChi CEO, called Dr. Delegate Dan Morhaim, a long time MedChi member, “a true leader and advocate for working on this and other public health programs throughout the state of Maryland. His knowledge and expertise has been a great asset to this long running series”.

All seminars will be held in the Hampton House Lecture Hall, 624 N. Broadway, Baltimore, MD 21205, from 12:00 p.m. to 1:15 p.m. For a full list of the seminars being offered, please click here:
